

Updating/creating your Michigan Water Collaboration Network Profile at michiganwater.net

If you already have a draft profile:

Profile activation: <https://michiganwater.net/activate>

We encourage you to verify that the information on your profile is accurate and up-to-date, and to make any changes that you see fit. In particular, we invite you to:

- Personalize your profile with a headshot-type photo.
- Select the water-related departments and programs you are affiliated with at your home institution.
- Update your expertise. In particular, ensure your primary expertise is listed first by dragging it to the top of the list.
- Articulate any unique or specialized capabilities of your laboratory or research center, such as ownership of monitoring instruments and/or analytical equipment that may not be available at many institutions throughout the state.
- Add any additional information, links, or documents needed to more fully describe your research, teaching, and/or outreach.

If you do not have a draft profile:

Request a new profile: <https://michiganwater.net/user/register>

After administrator approval, follow the website prompts to create a new password, and to populate your profile.
